

Operating Policy

The Wild Company is committed to providing products and services that meet the expectations and needs of our customers. We embrace new ideas, technology and innovation to deliver quality outcomes for each of our clients. The company shall achieve this commitment through continuous training of our staff; we strive to be a leader in our field.

We recognise that success is not determined by financial results, but by the way in which we conduct our business. We insist on maintaining the highest standards of ethical behaviour and are committed to complying with all industry standards, codes of practice and legal requirements. Our ability to continuously meet these standards is demonstrated by our high levels of repeat business and long-term client partnerships.

We conduct our business in a way that places safety at the highest possible level and strive to achieve a work place free of incidents and injuries. Wild Company has an obligation to health, safety and environmental impacts; these are documented in separate policies.

Adherence to this policy with the achievement of continuous improvement involves not only management, but also every employee of the company. The objectives are achieved through the implementation of Quality Procedures of which our manual gives an overview.

Quality will be reviewed regularly and measurable objectives will be set in production meetings.
